

NEWS RELEASE

16 February 2011

Contacts

Gerry Ridge	Trevor Llanwarne
Press Officer	Government Actuary
020 7211 2676	020 7211 2620
gerrard.ridge@gad.gov.uk	trevor.llanwarne@gad.gov.uk

Dermot Grenham appointed Chief Actuary for Social security, demography and overseas pensions at the Government Actuary's Department

Dr Dermot Grenham has been appointed as Chief Actuary for the Social security, demography and overseas pensions Division at the Government Actuary's Department (GAD) with effect from 1 March 2011.

Dermot is currently a Deputy Chief Actuary in GAD's Insurance Division. Prior to joining GAD, Dermot held various financial reporting roles within the Prudential Assurance Group, and has also worked as a consulting actuary for PricewaterhouseCoopers and Ernst & Young.

Dermot also teaches demography and development studies at the London School of Economics. He has previously been a member of the Council of the UK Actuarial Profession and is currently a member of the UK Actuarial Profession's Micro-insurance Working Group.

- ENDS -

Editor's notes

The Government Actuary's Department (GAD) provides actuarial analysis for the public sector from the public sector, and has been working within government for almost a century. GAD offers actuarial services to governments and public sector organisations, in the UK and around the world, covering pensions, social security and insurance. Based in London, GAD employs 140 people, of whom 60 are qualified actuaries.